

29-30 November 2013

Goetheanum, Dornach, Switzerland

"A 'true price' is forthcoming when a person receives, as counter-value for the product he has made, sufficient to enable him to satisfy the whole of his needs, including of course the needs of his dependants, until he will again have completed a like product." – Rudolf Steiner, 29 July 1922.

Friday, 8–9.30 pm

True Price = True Income

Introduction by Marc Desaules

Rudolf Steiner's path to create a full and dignified income for everyone.

Saturday, 9.00 am–5.30 pm

True Price in Thought and Deed

A one-day symposium

A chance for those who carry this idea in their work can 'bring and share' how they do so. The proceedings will be documented.

Moderation: Christopher Houghton Budd

Cost: A contribution will be requested to cover the cost of room hire, refreshments and administration.

Language: English and German

Enquiries and Registration: economics@goetheanum.org

Section for the Social Sciences

Goetheanum